

CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MAYHEM IS CHARGE IN ACTION BROUGHT IN CIRCUIT COURT

Sublette Farmer Asks $5,000 from Mendota Junk Dealer.

Myron Heatherington, well known Sublette township farmer, has instituted a suit in the sum of $5,000 against Sublette township, Mendota junk dealer, charging him with having committed mayhem. Attorney William L. Leach of Amboy is appearing for the plaintiff.

The suit is the outgrowth of the sale of an old stove to Coopersmith on Nov. 7. The case was tried last before Justice Leffman at Sublette last Saturday and was dismissed, whereupon the suit for damages on the mayhem charge was brought. Deputy Sheriff John Gentry of Amboy, serving the papers.

At the trial at Sublette Saturday it developed that Coopersmith drove to Heatherington's yard on Nov. 7 and bargained to buy an old stove for 50 cents. After breaking up the stove with a sledge, the junk dealer is alleged to have tried to force a settlement for 25 cents, leaving part of the sheet iron lining. When Mr. Heatherington notified him that he would not allow him to leave the premises before settling for the specified amount, Coopersmith is said to have threatened to kill the farmer with a sledge.

Saw He Chewed Thumb.

Mr. Heatherington ran to the house and procured a shot gun which was brought into the yard and started to count out the fifty cents in small change, walking toward the farmer. When close enough, Coopersmith grabbed the shot gun, it is charged, and shot at the junk dealer. Coopersmith is said to have threatened to kill the farmer a second time, the gun being exploded, the charge striking the house.

Coopersmith is alleged to have swung the empty shotgun, breaking the jaw of the farmer, dodged the blow and the weapon struck a tree. Another sledge is said to have followed, in which Coopersmith got the farmer's thumb in his mouth and chewed it severely.

Sublette mayhem brought action against Heatherington and was represented by State's Attorney Mark Keller and Attorney Rex of Mendota at the hearing in justice court Saturday.

CHICAGO BROKER HELD IN THEFT OF SECURITIES

Police Are Clearing Up $1,000,000 Robbery of Warehouse.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—C. G. Gill, a broker, is being held today for questioning in connection with the robbery of the Werner Brothers Warehouse, when bonds, securities, jewelry and heirlooms valued at more than $1,000,000 were taken.

McGill was implicated by Thor Wassburg, a bond salesman, arrested yesterday. Wassburg admitted, according to the police, conveying $25,000 worth of stolen securities from McGill to Howard Blackford, president of the Illinois Taxi Car Company, who was released today, and F. E. Frain, who is sought.

Confronted by Wassburg, McGill denied the charge. Wassburg seized him and knocked him down and reiterated his charge.

A charge of conspiracy and receiving stolen property was placed against Blackford who was released in bonds of $15,000.

Attorney Julian Ryer, in whose possession police say they found $25,000 worth of the bonds, has asked for his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Police later arrested Herbert Haney, business partner of McGill. He corroborated Wassburg's statement, they said.

E. Conrad, Bob and John Kennedy, H. L. Goshert, John H. Byers, Jr.

Legion's Football Team Bazaar Tonight

A bazaar sponsored by the members of the Dixon Legion football team will open this evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. Features have been arranged for each evening for the remainder of the week. The team is planning on purchasing new uniforms and considerable new equipment is needed and the bazaar is arranged to raise funds for this purpose.

Ralph Thomas of Sterling was a business visitor in Dixon today.

Any Old Democrat Can Win Southern Democrat Declares

By Associated Press Leased Wire Moline, Ill., Nov. 13.—Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi last night told a Moline audience that the senate will ratify the world court plan if President Coolidge submits the proposal.

"American prosperity," said Harrison, is dependent on American participation in foreign affairs. The Mississippiian declared that Europe would be peaceful today if the United States had ratified the peace treaty.

"Who will be the next president?" Harrison was asked.

"Coolidge will receive the republican nomination," he replied, "but he will be defeated by a democrat and it doesn't matter whom the democrats nominate."

Harrison denounced George Harvey and said he should have resigned long ago as ambassador to Great Britain.

FORBES, ON STAND, DENIES EVERYTHING SAID AGAINST HIM

"Too Much Sawyer" He Says in Testimony Before Senators.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Nov. 13.—A "conspiracy to compass my destruction by means of perjury, subordination of perjury and the suppression of material facts and documents" was charged by Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau in testimony today before the senate veterans committee.

Taking the stand in his defense before a crowded committee room, the former director entered a "general sweeping and absolute denial" of charges made by other witnesses reflecting upon his honesty.

The denial was directed, the witness said, against "every charge, statement, innuendo and insinuation which any manner whatsoever reflects on the honesty and integrity of my official or personal conduct while I occupied the office of director of War Risk Insurance or director of the Veterans Bureau."

Most of the deficiencies in the administration of the laws providing relief to disabled veterans, he declared, "had been due to politics and Sawyer."

He was requested by Brig. Gen. C. E. Ransdell, personal friend and physician of President Harding.

Forbes flatly denied the statement made before the committee by Dr. Sawyer that he was dismissed by President Harding for insubordination in connection with the sale of surplus property at Perryville, Maryland.

"Long before the President finally decided to issue his second temporary order stopping the delivery of goods at Perryville," the former director said, "I frankly told the President that I could not continue to serve in my office, and it became simply a choice between Sawyer and myself, and I believed that my resignation was a virtual command."

Prepared Statement

Forbes read a prepared statement in which he requested the committee to question him searchingly.

"I feel that I cannot refrain from expressing to the committee," he said, "my growing belief, finally resulting in my resignation, that the attempt has been made to mislead this committee and that a conspiracy has been on foot, the purpose of which is to encompass my destruction by means of perjury, subordination of perjury, attempted subordination of perjury and the suppression of material facts and documents."

He denied the utterly false and gross charges of official and personal neglect, dishonesty, graft, liquor drinking, loose conduct and any and every other delinquency of duty which has been ascribed to me.

"I do not mean that my administration was blameless; I do not deny its imperfections; I do not seek to shift any responsibilities to others, dead or alive; but I do assert that I have not consciously been guilty of any wrong doing either by act or neglect."

"I feel it is only proper to state that I did not seek this position. I am a member of my own party and I have no desire to become a member of the Shipping Board. President Harding frankly advised me that it was impossible for him to gratify my ambition; he ultimately tendered to me the position of director of War Risk Insurance. I accepted with much misgiving, with the expressed desire that I might retire at the end of a year."

Must Be Something Like Dixon Telegraph

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13.—An agile mind and a great store of information are necessary adjuncts of an information man for the Springfield chamber of commerce according to officials of the chamber who submit a list of questions asked recently to prove a point.

One lady telephoned to find out who could teach her to ride a horse and another wanted to know what rent to charge for two unfurnished rooms. These calls were followed by a request for information on the best place to get black dirt for the garden and by another from a man whose watch had stopped and who wanted to know the time.

Others wished to know where to pay Yeoman dues when they got sweetened by the chamber of commerce on a local anniversary; whether clothes baskets were manufactured here; where the closest dumping ground was located, and where to get an egg handling license.

One woman, who said she had mistreated her husband, asked the chamber to canvass the road gangs in the vicinity for him as she wanted him to come back.

Blame Alumni for College Drinking

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—Charges that the "old grad" are bringing liquor to the fraternity houses of colleges and universities have been leveled by Junior F. A. Whitcomb, 29, Peru, Ind., fireman on the work train, instantly killed and body removed to Allen.

Albert P. Shanks, 29, of Tipton, Ill., burned on local freight train, badly injured, died at Lake View Hospital here at 4 o'clock this morning.

The injured, brought to a Danville hospital, are as follows:

George J. Miller, Peru, Ind., engineer on work train, badly burned on both legs and right ankle broken.

Clark Smith, 74, Lafayette, Ind., burns and bruises about body, condition serious.

Others who suffered injuries, but who will recover, are:

James Moore, Walter Pierce, Alexander Turner, Alfred Moore, Barney McCoy and John Holly, all of Lafayette, Ind., and Charles Berry and C. E. Delaney of Peru, Ind.

The wreck is said to have been caused by the failure of the crew on the work train to get their train in the clear before the arrival of the local freight, enroute from Danville to Lafayette.

Elgin Legion Here for Game on Sunday

The Elgin American Legion football team, which has twice met and defeated the Dixon Legion on the football ground, will come to this city next Sunday to engage in a conflict here. This is one of the strongest games of the schedule and many hundreds of fans are expected to accompany the team to this city and witness the game.

Local fans were more than satisfied with the showing of the team Sunday against the heavily padded lineup presented by Rochelle and the management of that team has asked for another game here. The Dixon players went through the game without sustaining any serious injury and it has been practically decided to give Rochelle another chance here this season.

Risley and Reardon have been ready to get into the game again next Sunday and the strongest lineup that can be assembled will be put on the field in an effort to defeat the Elgin visitors.

Stockton-Freeport Pavement Complete

Stockton, Ill.—Stockton is rejoicing because of the fact that the last gap in the hard road connecting this place with Freeport, Rockford and Chicago has been finished. The last of the road work was poured at 5:30 Monday night. The road crews had been working against many odds, especially the last few weeks, because of weather conditions, their trucks being stuck in the mud many times. It takes 23 days for the road to cure, and after that the entire stretch will be open, without a single detour. The grading is going on west of town, and will continue all winter if weather conditions permit so that work on the road west will begin as soon as possible in this spring.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The announcement in Saturday evening's Telegraph that Rev. Aubrey Shannon Moore would perform the air-wedding in the mid many times. It was in error. The wedding was celebrated by Rev. W. W. Moore, a former pastor of the Dixon Christian church, and not the genial pastor of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Ethel Trothnow is suffering from a case of acute indigestion.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH TO CELEBRATE DIAMOND BIRTHDAY

Special Meetings Start Sunday to Mark Seventy-fifth Birthday.

Invitations are out for the Diamond Jubilee services to be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church November 13 to 21 inclusive, and Sunday the first of December. A sixteen-page souvenir program and historical sketch were given to the members.

St. Paul's has been celebrating its Diamond Jubilee all year and ever before in its planning. Over two hundred from all parts of the state attended the meeting of the Illinois Synod in its newly decorated auditorium last May. More than $3,000 has been spent this year by the congregation, improving the building and equipment as a birthday present to the church in honor of its seventy-five years of history.

Organized in Barn

The church was organized in the barn of J. N. Burket, two miles east of Dixon on the Franklin Road, in 1848.

The committee on 75th anniversary was appointed last year, as follows: Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, L. W. Newcomer, Owen Clymer, W. E. Davis, W. E. Train, H. H. Rickard, Clarence Wickley, C. C. Johnson, B. G. Robinson, H. M. Rasch, J. C. Schuele, Mark Smith Sr., Miss A. L. Geisenheimer, Mrs. Otto Belter, Miss Eleanor Fowler. The first meeting was held July 11, 1922.

Some of the special committees at work just now are:

Decorations, Mrs. Dwight Chapman, Mrs. Otto Belter.

Booster, Mrs. H. M. Rasch, Miss Geisenheimer.

"Rum Dividend" Case Went to Trial Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—Trial of a dozen defendants in the "rum dividend" case, which began yesterday, was continued today before Federal Judge Edmund J. Connelley.

Roscoe Andrews, then acting prohibition director of Illinois was suspended after an investigation of the distribution. He and J. E. Early, former chief of the bureau, were indicted with ten others, including former Circuit Judge C. A. Williams who handled the legal details.

An array of legal counsel was in court to represent the defendants. Among the counsel present were Hamilton Lewis, Clarence Darrow and Emory Andrews, representing his son, Roscoe Andrews.

Among the defendants are Frank A. Rehm, former president of Grommes & Ulrich, Frederick Diehl, Arthur P. Christian, Harry S. Tansey, former deputy of the municipal court, Carl M. Behrens, former cashier of the Lincoln Trust & Savings Bank, and Edward J. Roberts, publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

TWO DEAD, TEN HURT IN WRECK ON WABASH R. R.

Freight Train Plows Into Work Train Near Danville.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—Two Wabash Railway freight trains and ten laborers on a work train were severely injured and brought to a Danville hospital for treatment, following a collision between a local freight train and a work train near Danville, Ind., about 6 o'clock last night. The dead: F. A. Whitcomb, 29, Peru, Ind., fireman on the work train, instantly killed and body removed to Allen.

Albert P. Shanks, 29, of Tipton, Ill., burned on local freight train, badly injured, died at Lake View Hospital here at 4 o'clock this morning.

Jury Acquits Beloit Men in Blanket Cases

John C. Krause and Jesse Fallon, former partners in the garage business at Beloit, were acquitted by a jury in federal court on the charge of having in their possession property stolen from the government.

Just following the world war the U. S. government had a vast amount of supplies stored in a warehouse at Camp Grant, a great deal of which was stolen and disposed of in and about Rockford. The government alleged that two Camp Grant soldiers, William Stultz and William Thompson, stole a great many army blankets from the warehouse, disposing of them to a garage owner in Rockford, George Schroeder, and that he in turn sold them to Krause and Fallon, who were subsequently indicted on the charge of having in their possession the stolen blankets.

JOKE TELEGRAM GAVE SCARE TO ROCKFORD FOLK

And Kept Dixon Police Department on Jump Monday Evening.

The police department was swamped with calls last evening about 8 o'clock from Rockford, where information was sought concerning a purported automobile accident near Dixon in which several people from that city were said to have been seriously injured and all in the hospital here. Newspaper offices in Rockford were intent upon learning the details and about 11 o'clock last night, a party of Rockford people came to Dixon to investigate.

The police had no report of any accident and made an investigation but several minutes later a party of about twenty people arrived in this vicinity. The arrival of a party from Rockford late last night, finally solved the mystery. A telegram received at the L. L. L. School of Business in Rockford from Dixon containing these words: "All living." It was known that some Rockfordites had come to Dixon to attend the aerial meet and relatives at once presumed that they had been killed with accident. It finally developed that the message was sent in a jest and that no one was injured.

Found Treasures Hidden Under Roof

By Associated Press Leased Wire Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—Visions of pirates and buried treasure danced before the eyes of Hugh Wiseman and his Blacketer, carpenters, when they uncovered more than $2,000 in gold and pension checks while putting a new roof on the home of John T. Lyons, 80, a retired farmer living southeast of Danville.

Money was found in various places over the roof of the dwelling, in cans fastened to the rafters. When the gold and checks were piled up on the kitchen table at the Lyons home, the aged man declared he knew nothing of the treasure and had to be forcibly taken to the bank by the carpenters and made to deposit the money.

Businessmen Hold Inconsistencies is Charge of Galloway

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—The Illinois Manufacturers' Association was addressed today by Dr. Lee Galloway, vice president of The Ronald Press Company of New York, who spoke on "Economic Inconsistencies Held By Some Businessmen."

At present, he said, businessmen are trying to demonstrate such economic inconsistencies as the restriction of labor and the lowering of wages, promoting the milling industry and limiting the supply of wheat, lowering prices and inflating the currency, selling foreign currencies and buying bonds themselves, fixing the rate of railroad freight and subsidizing the motor bus and truck by furnishing a free road bed.

He blamed the shortened perspective of the businessman for these inconsistencies.

CROWD THRILLED BY AVIATORS AT DIXON MEET YESTERDAY

Fine Events and Wedding in Air Feature First Day.

BULLETIN

This afternoon it was announced by officials at the Mid-West Aerial Meet that all events which today's slight rain made impossible will be flown off tomorrow.

The first day's program at the Mid-West Flying Meet was a big success from an entertainment standpoint. Stunt flying, a thrilling race, witnessed by the people attending the meet and every one present expressed their satisfaction with the high class entertainment afforded by the daring pilots who participated in the first day's program.

The aerial wedding came off as scheduled when Harry D. Miller and Miss Hazel Welsch, popular and well known Dixon young couple, were united in marriage by Rev. W. W. Moore, in the large Lincoln Standard aeroplane owned and flown by Capt. John Yonge, a former ace of the English Air Service. Capt. Yonge and Miss Edna Johnson acted as best man and bridesmaid. The beautiful passenger aeroplane rose majestically from the field and soared to an altitude of two thousand feet when the pilot throttled the motor down to about half speed so that every word spoken in the impressive ceremony could be plainly heard by every occupant of the wonderful ship. The happy young couple left immediately after receiving the hearty congratulations of the people present for a short honeymoon trip through the northern part of the state.

Everything was in readiness at noon for the second day's events and a large crowd was expected to attend.

ATTACK LOYALTY OF WALTON AIDE TO HIS COUNTRY

Senate Court Thrown Into Uproar During Examination.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—The senate today threw the senate court into an uproar when counsel defending Governor J. C. Walton, cross-examined Dr. E. R. Bynum, former confidant of the suspended executive. The questioning was characterized by members of the court as "outrageous" and "unfair."

Bynum testified he and Aldrich Blake, who succeeded him as executive counselor, had considered placing a secret telephonic device in the Governor's office to "protect" the executive.

After preliminary questioning, M. K. Snyder, of defense counsel demanded of Dr. Bynum "were you ever compelled to kiss the American flag?"

"I never had occasion to do so. No sir," Dr. Bynum replied.

"Is it not a fact," Snyder persisted, "that shortly after the war a gentleman asked you if you had been in the line of the treasury which he said was the best citizens of this country were with Germany in her trouble and that you were proud of it, whereas you were compelled to kiss the American flag?"

"I never had occasion to do so. No sir," Dr. Bynum replied.

"Is it not a fact," Snyder persisted, "that shortly after the war a gentleman asked you if you had been in the line of the treasury which he said was the best citizens of this country were with Germany in her trouble and that you were proud of it, whereas you were compelled to kiss the American flag?"

Immediately senators shouted opposition to the questioning. A senator demanded of Snyder what he was trying to show.

Challenged Loyalty

"We are trying to show that this witness is not loyal to his country, that he is a traitor and that he is a spy," Snyder replied.

Uproar was loosed again, senators demanding the witness be expelled. A motion was made that the court recess to "cool off" but it was tabled and the remark was struck from the record by a vote.

The questioning was repeated. Dr. Bynum answered "it is absolutely false."

Referring to the proposed installation of the telephonic device, Dr. Bynum declared there was no "disgrace" or "selfish motive" behind the plan. He said that Blake and himself thought the idea might be effective in protecting the Governor against mysterious goings on in several state departments.

Dr. Bynum said he had solicited campaign money and testified that he had accepted personal gifts from wealthy men who contributed to the campaign chest.

Political Leaders in Chicago, Silent

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—Political observers today attach importance to the visits here of Senator William W. Johnson of California, W. G. McAdoo and Chairman John T. Adams of the republican national committee.

It is also believed he would regard Holland as perhaps an insecure place of refuge, in view of the protests against the new law of the return of Frederick William.

WILLIAM HAS PASSPORTS

By Associated Press Leased Wire Brussels, Nov. 13.—William Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany, was again a figure commanding wide attention today as the governments of the powers announced their decision to grant him passports for returning to Germany.

Equipped with passports for himself and his suite, he is said to be now in the hands of his son, former Crown Prince Frederick William, in the throne December 4.

There was no official confirmation of the passport decision. A German courier yesterday delivered twelve passports to the German legation in Brussels.

It is pointed out here that William had been keeping in close touch with the monarchists in Germany and that he has hoped for some time the situation would shape itself favorably for his return.

It is also believed he would regard Holland as perhaps an insecure place of refuge, in view of the protests against the new law of the return of Frederick William.

Small's Re-election By Bigger Majority Predicted By Friends

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—Leaders in Governor Small's campaign for re-election, meeting here last night, predicted he would be returned to office by a larger majority than when first elected. The Governor told 400 Cook county and downstate campaign workers he is confident of victory.

Signed pledges of support from more than 100,000 Chicagoans were presented to the Governor by Judge H. B. Miller. Ward leaders expressed confidence Cook county and Chicago would roll up a plurality large enough to overcome any downstate minorities.

A state-wide rally to assemble here Dec. 21st was arranged at the meeting at which Percy B. Coffin, former chairman of the state tax commission and chairman of the Small campaign in Cook county presided.

FORMER KAISER IS STILL IN HOLLAND MUST REMAIN THERE

Berlin Denies Permit for Him to Leave is Granted.

BULLETIN

Berlin, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Former Crown Prince Frederick William arrived at his estate at Oels, Silesia at six o'clock this evening a message from Oels announced.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Berlin, Nov. 13.—It is officially denied here that former Emperor William has been authorized to return to Germany.

Denial was also made of a report that the former Crown Prince would be allowed to leave Dutch custody. He stayed Saturday night at Holscheim, Sunday night at Grosspöten in Mecklenburg, and last night with friends in Brandenburg. He is expected at Oels today.

BRITAIN SATISFIED

London, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—British officials reiterated today that they were satisfied with the adequacy of the assurances given by Holland that ex-Emperor William would not be allowed to leave Dutch custody. They say that up to the moment they have no reason to suppose he proposes to decamp, and if he has such an intention they will prevent it by a more vigilant watch.

No new representations interposed have been made to Holland.

U. S. NOT CONCERNED

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge believes that the traditional policy of the American government would preclude it from joining with Germany against the return of Crown Prince Frederick William or his father, the former emperor, or in measures to prevent re-establishment of the monarchy.

The chief executive feels that the United States should abide by its long established treaty that any nation is within its right in establishing a government of its own choosing.

He has told visitors he believed that policy should be followed with respect to all European countries, although in South America principles of the Monroe Doctrine should be the guide.

WHERE IS EX-CROWN PRINCE?

Oels, Silesia, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Former Emperor William who was supposed to have headed for his estate here when he left Holland Saturday, had not put himself in evidence up to 1 o'clock this afternoon.

A report that he was temporarily putting up at the hunting lodge on his estate could not be verified.

PRESS SHOWS ANXIETY

By Associated Press Leased Wire London, Nov. 13.—Some British newspapers are beginning to show anxiety over the possible return of Germany of former Emperor William and his father, the former emperor, or in measures to prevent re-establishment of the monarchy.

It is said the visit of Dr. K. B. Bynum, who is said to be now in the hands of his son, former Crown Prince Frederick William, in the throne December 4.

FIRST SUIT OF ITS KIND INSTITUTED BY ATTORNEY WINGERT

Would Close Catalina House for Period of One Year.

The first action which has been brought in Lee county or this section of the state to enforce the prohibition law by the closing of a dwelling house was instituted yesterday by City Attorney E. E. Wingert in the Circuit Court when he started a proceeding to close the house occupied by Frank, Mary and Jennie Catalina at 114 Noble avenue.

The action sets forth that repeated complaints of sale of intoxicating liquor have been made in which all three are named as having made sales. It is the direct result of an arrest made last week in front of the Catalina residence, when Chief Van Bibber and Officer Harry Jones arrested a colored man, who had just come from the house and carried a pint bottle of liquor, which he said he had purchased of Jennie Catalina. In an affidavit he declared that he had made repeated purchases at the same place, procuring liquor from Frank, Mary and Jennie Catalina.

Asks An Injunction

In the proceeding, the city attorney asks that the place be declared a nuisance and a temporary injunction be sought restraining Frank, Mary or Jennie Catalina and all other occupants of the house or premises from conducting or permitting to be conducted such nuisance until the final hearing by the court. The parties, according to the injunction, are asked to be held without bond.

The petitioner also requests that the court issue an injunction requiring that the house be closed for a period of one year after the date of the order. The papers were filed with Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans yesterday, but no action had been taken at noon today.

Following the arrest last week by the police the house was raided by police and sheriff's forces and some wines confiscated. No information has been filed in the county court to date following this action.

WORK PRAISES FARM HOME AND FARMER WOMEN

Says Citizenry of U. S. Depends Largely on Farms.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Nov. 13.—The American farm home offers the unit from which may be developed a higher type of governing—citizenship. Secretary Work declared today in an address before the Association of Land Grant Colleges. He emphasized the prominent place farm women and women in city homes must take in shaping the character of the country's future citizenry.

"One of the most advanced movements of this time," he said, "is the campaign to introduce motor-driven labor saving machinery into the farm home for the relief of the women there."

"Out of it should come the reading mother; the home teaching of children; a more hygienic environment; a better physique; a stronger mentality; a more responsible moral sense and the nation's greatest present need, contentment of mind and time for reflection."

"The modern American home is no found in the cities. It must be cultivated and fostered in the country for from it must continue to come the men who will do the thinking of this great nation."

"If the necessary coloring must be done in the home and that, too, in the farm homes where there are 7,000,000 children under 10 years of age."

"The farm family unit, for the six million women on farms; that their load might be lightened, their hours shortened, recreation enjoyed and their minds rested; that they be helped to take their place as character builders, to build the home life around them."

Plan to Expedite Gov. Walton's Case

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Plans to expedite the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton were being considered by the senate court today when it convened to hear further witnesses in support of the charge that the executive used his official position to acquire private property and credit.

It was understood a proposal to eliminate certain of the impeachment articles on the basis that they could not be termed impeachable offenses had been under consideration. The action, it was pointed out, would shorten the trial.

Election in Britain Set for December 5th

London, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—The British parliament will be dissolved Thursday and a general election will be held Wednesday Dec. 5.

The Asquith and Lloyd George factions of the Liberal party sank their differences this morning and reunited to present a solid front against the conservative protectionists as well as the labor party.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jarvis visited friends in Sterling this morning.

ATTENDED DEDICATION OF NEW PIPE ORGAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller were among the many Dixonites who motored to Sterling last evening and attended the dedication of the wonderful new pipe organ at the new Presbyterian church. A concert was given by Dr. Francis Hemington, Director of the Oak Park School of Music, and organist of the Oak Park Presbyterian Congregational church. The program was greatly enjoyed and was given as printed in the Telegraph last evening.

Kennard Barradell and J. Burlington Rigg who assisted in the program are well known artists, both conducting studios in Chicago.

MOTORED TO MAQUOKETA, IOWA, SUNDAY.

Mesdames Katherine Ballou and James Lennon and Miss Brenneise motored to Maquoketa, Iowa, Sunday morning, and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Lennon and son. They also called on Prof. and Mrs. H. V. Baldwin at Fulton, Ill.

Woman's College in Its Seventy-eighth Year

Jacksonville.—Opening its 78th year the Illinois Woman's College is crowded to capacity, according to the college bulletin. Additional space, including a new science hall, is needed, the bulletin said. Sixteen states are represented in the enrollment.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—Preserved Glue.

A little glycerin added to your glue will keep it from becoming dry and brittle.

Chapped Hands.

Keep a little hand lotion over the sink and use it occasionally to keep your hands from becoming chapped. Lemon juice or vinegar is effective if you have no lotion on hand.

Worn Sheets.

When your sheets are wearing out cut them in two and sew the selvage edges together and make new hems. This will distribute the wear and give you more service.

Drying Woolens.

To prevent woolens from shrinking hang them on the line dripping wet and dry without wringing.

Jar Topping.

Tops of fruit jars can be cleaned by laying them in sour milk or vinegar until the mold comes off. They can then be washed in water.

Mended China.

A paste made of plaster of paris and the well-beaten white of an egg will mend china so that the joint is almost invisible. The article to be mended should be thoroughly washed before it is cemented.

MODERN WOODMEN TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING.

The Modern Woodmen of America will meet in regular session Thursday evening in Union hall. Any visiting Woodman in Dixon is urged to attend the meeting.

ATTENDED DEDICATION AT STERLING.

Survey Shows Skirt and Blouse Popular with American Girls

New York, Nov. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The separate blouse and skirt is the typical costume of the American woman and girl, according to the United Women's Wear League which recently completed a survey of the evolution of American fashions for women.

Fostered by native conditions of living, the shirtwaist has been the favorite costume in this country from the very beginning of the nation's history and now remains strongest in popular favor, the investigators found. While foreign style importations have come and gone, the vogue of the blouse and skirt has never waned permanently because American women have found that costume both practical and suited to their type—tall, slim, athletic and active.

Around the dress and gown, of French and Italian origin, have held sway and modes of living have declared against the blouse and suit. European designers every season send to this country new fashions for evening wear, but none sends a costume which vies with the blouse for the practical necessities of everyday American life.

"Somewhere between the dignity of formal dress and the striving for daring that French mannequins exhibit on fashion parade," according to M. Mossehn, executive chairman of the league, "there is a place of its costume that expresses the independence of the American girl—this girl you see in illustrations, on the streets, in the shops, this tall, straight slim, active girl who walks with as wing of the capable shoulders and looks about her with a direct, fearless gaze.

"It is this type of girl who has clung tenaciously to the separate blouse in all its manifestations. She knows that it is becoming, that it is a style out of reach of the dowdy and the dumpy and she has made it her own. Let her wear the narrow, clinging draperies (she wears them herself in the evening) but she finds that the best expression of her personality in the free and easy lines of a modern blouse and skirt. It is her uniform but devoid of all the monotonous implications of the word."

Plan to Organize Republican Women

Chicago.—Plans to organize the Republican women voters of the state for participation in the 1924 campaigns on a scale unprecedented in Illinois political history are being worked out in every county under the direction of the Illinois Republican Women's Club, whose first convention here approved a budget of $100,000 for the year.

It is the hope of leaders in the movement to organize local clubs in every important community of the state in time for the coming Spring, and thereby to make the influence of the feminine voters felt in the matter of selecting the party candidates.

Forty-one clubs throughout the state form the nucleus of the organization. The plan is in line with the recommendation of the executive committee of the Republican national committee that the women voters in the party be organized nationally for the presidential contest. State bodies have been formed in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, and are in various phases of organization in numerous other states. The principle behind the suggestion of the national committee is that woman's influence for better government may be most effectively expressed through activity in the existing political organizations.

"The ideals of good men and good women in matters of government are identical," in the view of Mrs. Fletcher Dobson, of Chicago, a leader in the Illinois organization campaign. "For that reason it is folly for the women to seek their political aims independent of the great political parties. Wisdom suggests that we search in the ranks of the men who have the right to elect and lend our influence to their election to office; or that we determine who is unworthy of support and work for his defeat in the primaries."

Mrs. George R. Dean of Chicago, who was chairman of the state organization caucus, is president of the Illinois Clubs. Permanent headquarters have been established here with Miss Anne Forsyth as executive secretary. Mrs. Silas Strawn of Chicago has been named chairman of the ways and means committee, entrusted with the task of raising funds for the $100,000 budget.

Mrs. S. S. Sells of Mt. Carmel, and Mrs. Henry M. Needles of Granite City, candidates for the senate and house of the state assembly, respectively, were endorsed by the convention. It is expected that several other women candidates will be in the field before primary day, in April.

"The political achievement of women in Illinois up to this time has been scattered and diffused," said Miss Forsyth in outlining the aims of the clubs. "Women have been discouraged by the seeming waste of their effort, and have failed to organize for their work in a way to bring them effectively toward their goal. Our experience has taught us that real achievement can come only through properly organized effort. To provide that organization for the republican women of the state is our primary aim."

In New Jersey, where the first state body was formed the local units have done splendid work in city, county and state elections. Six important measures sponsored by the clubs were passed at one session of the legislature. One of their most notable accomplishments was in securing passage of a law requiring the election of women to one-half the membership of the county and state committees of the political parties.

"The women of Pennsylvania, with a similar organization this year elected eight women to the legislature. In Illinois, our work has been effective in the smaller units. The Du Page County club helped Mrs. Lottie O'Neill to her unique position as first woman member of the Illinois legislature, while in other counties the clubs have helped in the fight to stamp out the spoils politicians."

"A survey convinces us that the women of every county in the state are ready for the same work. They have long felt the need for that centralizing and co-ordinating influence which the state organization can give."

"It will work as a political club only, and will not run counter to any woman's organization. It will serve as a central clearing house for information and education, co-ordinate campaign plans, political policies, and legislative programs. It will have its own legislative program, adopted at the annual business meeting just prior to the session of the assembly."

NOT USEFUL, BUT PRETTY

The shredded sleeve shown so charmingly by the fashionable young woman in the picture is seen on many a new and fashionable frock. It is interesting and does not pretend to be useful—ornament is its only aim.

The drape, but now, is a one-sided affair that ripples down from one's hip to one's skirt hem. This drape and this sleeve are both new—the gown that has them is doubly fashionable.

Chairmen Committees Were Appointed

The Girl Scout Committee held a meeting at the Dixon Public Library last evening with the Scout leader, Miss Ruth Utley of Sterling, and appointed chairmen for the different committees. Much interest is evidenced in the organization and the work.

Mrs. Mahlon Forsyth was appointed chairman of the Educational Committee. There are about seven different lines of work in the jurisdiction of this committee, embracing sewing, cooking, first aid, home nursing, etc., and the chairman will negotiate with the suitable people to teach the girls in these lines, and finally these girls will be given tests in these subjects, and on passing these tests will be given the Scout badge.

Mrs. John Strub was appointed chairman of the Finance Committee and she will be busy superintending the monetary aspects of the Scouts. And will devise way and means for raising money.

Mrs. H. V. Hunt, wife of the Secretary of the Dixon Y. M. C. A., was appointed chairman of the committee to find meeting places for the troops. There are now fifty members of the Girl Scouts and seventy-five are expected at the next meeting, and the organization will be formed into Troops.

Secretary Hunt was appointed chairman of the committee on Camps. Next summer the Boy Scouts, (this is the plan which seems most excellent economical) too will camp at a suitable place, not too far from Dixon, and after their return to Dixon the Girl Scouts are to enjoy camp life in the same camp, with all the advantages accruing from the life in the great out of doors.

In connection with the Girl Scout organization here, Mrs. Ethel Brookner, President of W. R. C. has asked the privilege of presenting to the Scouts a flag.

Mrs. Robt. Shaw was elected chairman of the publicity committee. Miss Utley, leader of the Scouts gratefully replied and thanked the W. R. C. for the interest they show in such a beautiful and thoughtful manner. Miss Utley is very much pleased with the co-operation and enthusiasm for the organization accorded her by the Dixon people and is much encouraged with the way in which every young points to success for the Girl Scouts, Dixon mothers and fathers realize that makes for ideal American womanhood, embracing the best for health, home and good citizenship; it takes the girls out doors, makes them love sports, and sets them away from the effects and the demoralizing, and uplifts in a good wholesome way. The girls are not only lectured but allowed to work out their own salvation in out door camp life and games. Again it is stated that the Girl Scouts as the Boy Scouts, are non-sectarian, and all are invited to attend and get acquainted and join the Scouts. The high school girls are interested, now any may form a troop of their own.

Firpo Angers Own People By Sulking

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Buenos Aires, Nov. 12.—A dispatch to La Nación from La Paz, Bolivia, says Luis Angel Firpo, incurred the displeasure of the residents there by his indifferent attitude toward the enthusiastic reception accorded him.

Firpo, the dispatch says, was in a sulky mood. He was met by cheering crowds who were dispersed when their idol fled in an automobile. A great crowd gathered later at an athletic meeting in the expectation of seeing Firpo, but he did not appear. This was interpreted as another slight and the angry citizens marched through the streets crying "Death to Firpo."

The correspondent says Firpo was displeased when on his way to La Paz he read a newspaper protesting against his scheduled exhibition bout.

A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

A successful business man remarked the other day, "it doesn't take as long to get over a college education now as it used to." The remark was intended as a compliment to modern educational methods, as truly it was.

Not so many years ago people looked upon a college education as an end rather than a means. Not until comparatively recent years has there been anything like general realization of the fact that more is expected of a college graduate than of others, that the man who obtained a college education has assured a greater responsibility instead of being given a greater privilege.

The college graduate of today must serve instead of being served. The college graduate is looked upon as being fitted for greater efficiency than one who has not had his advantages of education, and better things are expected of him.

The world today is more harsh in its judgment of the man who wastes his talents than upon the man who has no talents to waste.
More is expected of the man with good tools.
And, after all, education is nothing more than the tool for the work of life.

These thoughts are offered with respectful earnestness to young men and young women who are thinking of entering college. If you go to college, go to learn to be useful and to serve. When you come out be ready to do a work which will be your joy and your pride.
Let financial success be secondary. Steinmetz didn't care for any income, simply enough to live comfortably on according to modest tastes, enjoyed his work as few men do, and contributed much more to mankind than many who work merely for riches.

TAXES $64 PER.

Taxes last year took an average of $64
from every man, woman and child in our country. So figures National Industrial Conference Board. That'd be $320 for a man and wife with three children. The politicians wouldn't dare hand us a straight bill for so much, so they cleverly arrange a lot of indirect taxation that is passed on to us in the form of higher cost of living. Fifty-four billion dollars worth of property is exempt from taxes. That's almost a fifth of our entire national wealth.

HERE IS TRAGEDY.

When you think you have troubles, remember Mary Dermody, crippled domestic, of Laurel Hill, N. Y. She has lost $535, her life savings, which she had been 20 years accumulating with a view to obtaining admission to an old ladies' home. The money was tied in a handkerchief and pinned inside her dress.
Pine came loose.

Mary's money would have been safe in a bank. But that doesn't lessen the tragedy.

Archbishop Soderblom of Sweden made it plain while in Moline that he is not a stickler for what he called "Lutheran dogmatic stubbornness," but he desires all Christian sects and denominations to regard each other as Christian brethren and entitled to brotherly recognition instead of the old antagonism.
His is a stand which will be applauded by all those who are and have been working for church unity as a big step in the direction for which they are seeking. Archbishop Soderblom, coming from a nation which is as nearly solid as any country for Lutheranism, may be regarded as thoroughly progressive and tolerant.

WRONG COLORS.

The latest hospitals are doing away with white, especially in the operating room.
White, it's discovered, causes headache, nervousness, indigestion and other ailments. So it's eliminated, and more restful grays and tans are used instead.

Why don't they use green? It's the most restful color. That's why nature uses it so much in trees, grass and other plant life.

SPOTTY WINTER?

A severe winter is predicted by New England settlers, because porcupines are exceptionally fat. It's believed this fat has been stored to keep them warm and serve as emergency food in bitter weather.

On the other hand, word comes from Canada that mild and open winter is predicted by Ojibway and Algonquin Indians, because squirrels have not been storing many nuts.

Maybe they're both right. Winter may be spotty. We're not yet out of the period of freakish weather, though the sun is believed to have recovered to normal in amount of heat it sends us.

SWEETEN THE PILL.

The proposed soldier bonus could be entirely taken care of by a tax of 2 cents a pound on sugar. So claims the United States Sugar Association. It furnishes enough figures to give a bookkeeper a headache. What it really wants is repeal of the tariff on sugar and substitution of a flat sales tax of 2 cents a pound.

Some very novel schemes are advanced these days, to make taxation as painless a form of extraction as possible. The child doesn't holler as much when the pill is sugar-coated.

OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 17—THE TWINS MEET MRS. ARMADILLO

"Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."

Away down in Dixie Land, the Twins came upon an object that looked something like a war-tank, and something like a suit of iron armor that knights of old used to wear in battle. Only it wasn't any bigger than a parcel-post package.
"What do you suppose it can be?"
whispered Nancy, touching it with her toe.
But careful as she was, the object poked a scaly head out from under its hard shell and said sharply out of its sharp nose, "Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."
"Don't you believe it!" called a tiny voice, and there, not far away, the Twins saw a little black ant with a red head, standing beside the door of a perfectly enormous ant-hill. "He isn't hard of hearing at all! He's got ears that can hear when anyone sneezes in China. We ants ought to know, for he hears us every time we turn over in bed even, so he does, and we have an awful time trying to stay alive, because he eats ants and—"
Nancy put her hands over her ears.
"Oh, stop, stop!" she cried. "You talk so much and so fast, little ant, I can't keep up with you."
Without another word the little red-headed ant disappeared.
"I'm glad you put that sassy ant in his place," said Mister Hard-Shell War-Tank sharply again out of his sharp nose. "They seem to think I have no right whatever to eat them.
Why, if all the lizards and mice and bugs in the community felt that way,
I would never have a meal at all, so I wouldn't and dear only knows, if I don't watch my Q's and P's, I'll be gobbled up myself one of these days
because, much as I hate to say it, there are plenty of people waiting around to make a lunch off me."
"What is your name, please?" asked Nick. "You are the most curious person I ever saw."
"I'm called Andy Armadillo," answered Mister War-Tank. "Want a ride?"
"Yes," answered the Twins quickly.
And they hopped right on.
Along they went, along and along and along, their steed chattering like a phonograph every step of the way,
when suddenly the Twins were dumped off on the ground, kerbump! And Mister Armadillo disappeared like a cent in a slot-machine.
"Wh—where are you? Oh, Mister Armadillo, where did you go?" called Nick.
"Sh! I'm down this hole! I'm minding my Q's and P's as I told you. I heard someone coming. Don't wait for me, please."
"Now you know how the ant feels!"
called Nancy. "Come along, Nick."

WINDS

BY BERTON BRALEY

The North Wind is a chill wind.
A shrill wind.
A bold wind.
It whistles of the wintry seas and of the frozen trail;
A strong wind and a cruel, a harsh and bitter cold wind
That calls hard-bitted rovers to battle storm and gale.
The East Wind is a low wind.
A slow wind.
A bland wind.
That whispers of the Orient and murmurs of Cathay;
A mystical and magical, a "Never-Never-Land" wind.
Where age-old peoples calmly drowse the centuries away.
The West Wind is a keen wind.
A clean wind.
A brisk wind.
It calls to blithe adventurers to seek the far frontier:
A "Lep before you look" wind.
A "Never-mind-the-risk" wind—
The breath of open country and of azure skies and clear.
The South Wind is a shy wind.
A sly wind.
A warm wind.
That breathes of love and laziness where tropic waters foam;
So North or South or East or West,
There always is a charm wind
That makes it hard for wanderers to linger long at home!

VARICOSE VEINS

Construction of the veins, which in many parts of the body are subject to surface pressure, causes varicose veins in many cases. It's beginning is hardly ever realized by the person who at some future time becomes the real sufferer.

Simply stated, varicose veins are enlargements or dilations of the venous blood vessels through unnatural pressure and resultant weakened vein walls.
Persons who work in mills or factories, where they are almost constantly on their feet, seldom are troubled by varicose veins.
The cause is a lack of real physical condition and non-use of the muscles for real aid to the venous circulation. Tight clothing, impeding the veins in their work, also causes this trouble.

Remember that the veins carry impure blood back to the purification plant, the heart and the lungs. They are under constant pumping and valvular pressure and, if constricted and impeded, become distended and weakened, showing after a time a swollen, thickened and tortuous condition.

Begin life right. In your youth, assume and keep a body posture that does not weaken your muscles or impede proper circulation. Keep up some kind of exercising through middle life.

For sufferers, any mild exercise in walking or using the legs and feet will aid the muscles in helping the pressure on the veins to "induce strengthening and proper circulation.
Some relief may be afforded by rest or reclining with the feet elevated 15 or 20 minutes, a number of times
each day.

Sometimes in extreme cases a rubber stocking may be used to prevent more serious trouble.

Paroled Prisoner
Can Be Forced to Serve Out Sentence

Washington, Nov. 12. — A federal prisoner arrested, tried and sentenced for a second crime committed while at liberty on parole can be compelled by the government to serve out his original sentence, the Supreme Court decided today in a case against Arthur Corall, a post office robber. He first was convicted in the Southern Illinois Federal Court and sentenced on November 25, 1914, to three years in Leavenworth. On June 28, 1916, he was paroled, and in October was convicted of another crime in Illinois and imprisoned by state authorities at Jo-let until December, 1919. Upon his release he was taken to Leavenworth

again, but the federal courts in Kansas ordered his release, on the ground that his original term had expired.
That view was upheld by the court of appeals but was reversed today by the Supreme Court.

WOMEN AND WIRELESS

Woman now has the world at her elbow—thanks to radio.

No longer need the woman of leisure in the time wonder what to do with her spare time, nor kill time in the vain effort to dispel ennui.

Radio, which has brought both entertainment and educational features to her drawing room, not alone for her but for her guests, is coming to be fully appreciated by women as the most efficient and most reliable of the most efficient radio fan.

One indication of this fact was seen in the surprisingly large number of women in attendance at the recent radio show in New York, and in the alert and intelligent interest which they displayed in new circuits, equipment and recent improvements in the art.

But radio is even more popular in the homes of women who reside on isolated farms and in small towns at a distance from the great urban centers of music, entertainment and general culture. To women thus situated radio is not merely a joy, it is rapidly becoming a necessity.

Radio has a universal appeal to all classes of women. For every woman, housewife or lady of leisure, there is a program in the air somewhere which will appeal to her.

Furthermore radio lightens her burden. For instance, instead of having to go to a story to tell the children at bedtime, she can turn to a station broadcasting a bedtime story, which ten times to one, is better than her own. Or instead of wondering what to cook for dinner, she can tune in on another station and obtain a menu. All this by turning a knob. Each day, too, some of the largest stations broadcast information about up-to-the-minute fashions in dress.

In fact, with the growth of women's interest in radio it is rapidly assuming an indispensable place in every home. No longer is radio a complicated maze of wires and controls which confuse women and discourage their use of it. Circuits have been developed which require fewer operations and controls than ever before. Some of them, particularly the reflex circuit, are as easy to operate as a phonograph—and have a vastly wider range and variety of timely program. In the reflex set only half as many tubes are required as in other sets, and the control is simple and dependable. Its characteristics of simplicity of operation, ease of reception, distant as well as nearby stations strongly commend it to women fans.

Then, too, many women are making their own shows nowadays. Many of them think it less difficult to assemble such sets as the reflex type than it is to make a complicated pattern of lace. One company has issued a booklet entitled "Radio for Women Without Distortion," which particularly appeals to women fans because of the simplicity and non-technical explanation of the principles of radio and of the assembling and operation of circuits.

Women are taking radio to their hearts—and homes. This means that it has come into the American home to stay and will be an increasingly important factor in promoting happiness, culture, and good cheer in the humblest as well as the most pretentious home in the land.

Northern Baptists in Important Meet in Chicago Tuesday

Northern Baptists of the state of Illinois will have a share during the next few days in the greatest series of missionary meets in the history of the denomination. Bible and Missionary Conference, part of a nation-wide chain, will take place in Chicago Nov. 14-16. Similar gatherings are taking place simultaneously in 35 large cities from coast to coast, in an effort to revive missionary spirit all through the denomination.

The Rev. Frank Jennings of Lawrence, Kan., pastor of the First Baptist church of that city, has been appointed Illinois conference secretary, and will be in charge of arrangements at the Chicago meeting. He will be assisted in this task by the Rev. A. E. Peterson, State Director of Promotion of the Northern Baptist Convention. Dr. W. H. Bowler of New York, Secretary of Field Activities of the General Board of Promotion, is director of the nation-wide series of missionary gatherings.

Interest in the Bible and Missionary Conference runs high all over the state. Practically every city or town in Illinois will be represented at the Chicago meeting. Contests are everywhere being engaged in between churches and even between cities to secure the highest possible number of registrations. Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Detroit are engaged in a four-cornered contest to secure 4000 names of Baptists who will be present at the respective conferences in these cities.

A remarkable team of speakers has been secured for the Illinois conferences, comprising some of the best-known speakers of the denomination, and missionaries from the home and foreign fields. It will be headed by Mr. Charles R. Manley, a medical missionary in Ongole, South India, who has returned to the town where he was born to carry on his work. In the costume of two natives Dr. Manley and his wife will give a spirited dialog showing the conditions there.

Other speakers of rare interest will be President B. D. Weeks of Bacone Indian College, Oklahoma; the Rev. William Everett Chalmers, D. D., of Philadelphia, who heads up the work of religious education in the Northern Baptist denomination; Dr. D. J. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist church of Kansas City, Mo.; the Rev. C. C. Wright of New York, Associate Secretary of the Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board of the Northern Baptist Convention; Mrs. Orrin R. Judd of Brooklyn, president of New York District of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Society; and Mrs. F. A. Long, representing the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society.

GRIDIRON FACTS

By Billy Evans.

THE QUESTION—Team "A" in possession of the ball throws a long forward pass, making the pass to the right end of the ball. Finding the pass a trifle high he jumps into the air to make sure it won't pass over his head. A member of the opposing team, rushing over in an effort to intercept the pass, jumped into the air after the ball at the same time as the eligible player. The pass is grabbed simultaneously by the eligible player of the passer's side and an opponent. When their feet reached the ground, both players had a tight hold on the ball. What is the proper procedure in this rather unusual play?

THE ANSWER—The rule on this point is very specific. It states the ball shall belong to the side which put it in play. Such a play actually came up in a prominent eastern college game last year and had considerable to do with the final result.

Largest Spud Crop in State Since '15

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13.—Illinois raised the largest crop of white potatoes this year that the state has produced since 1915, and sweet potato and apple crops are well above the average, according to the November first report of A. J. Surratt, statistician of the Federal Crop Reporting Service for Illinois, published today. The clover seed yield in the state was poor, on a generally decreased acreage, but yields of soybeans and corn are reported as large.

The average yield of white potatoes was estimated at 92 bushels per acre compared with 62 bushels last year, and state production is estimated at 10,948,000 bushels compared with 7,457,000 last year.

Sweet potato production is estimated at 590,000 bushels against 855,000 bushels last year and yield per acre is estimated at 110 bushels against 92 bushels last year.

Buckwheat averaged about the same as last year with a total production of 90,000 bushels, but the apple crop, favored by late season conditions, appears to be larger than previously estimated. The total crop is placed at 7,357,000 bushels, compared with 6,749,000 bushels last year and an average of 4,779,000 bushels.

A drop of forty-five percent in clover seed acreage and a poor yield, is responsible for a falling off in the total production of this product. The yield per acre is estimated at 1 bushels against 1.6 bushels last year and an average of 1.5.

The soybean crop is estimated to be yielding 14.8 bushels per acre against 12.5 bushels last year and cowpeas are estimated to be yield 9.5 bushels per acre compared with 7 bushels per acre last year.

The farm labor supply is reported to be about 75 percent of normal and the farm demand is estimated at 95 percent of normal.

ILLINOIS CORN YIELD IS WELL ABOVE AVERAGE

October Crop Report Issued By State Govt. Expert.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13.—Illinois' corn yield per acre is well above the average and reserves of old corn on farms are the lowest in years in practically all sections of the state, according to A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician, in his monthly federal crop report for October. However, Mr. Surratt said, the merchants' portion of the crop is less than usual. Returns indicate a yield of shilage above the average, he continued.

"The average yield of corn on Illinois farms this season is 37.5 bushels per acre upon 5,995,000 acres, giving the state a total production of 337,313,000 bushels. This is about 26,000,000 bushels more than the 1922 crop of 313,074,000 bushels and compares with 338,259,000 bushels, the average for the past five years. The 1922 yield was 35 bushels and the ten year average yield per acre for the state is 33½ bushels. A full or normal yield of corn for Illinois would be about 44.3 bushels per acre."

"Excessive rains or cool weather retarded the maturity and dried out the corn quite extensively. Frosts in September, especially in the north and eastern third of the state, as well as storms blowing corn down badly in scattered localities, contributed towards lowering the yield and quality to a marked extent from the earlier favorable state crop outlook. Probably the best yield and quality of corn will be found in the west central portion of the state. Owing to the high merchantable portion of the 1922 crop, heavy farm feed requirements and attractive market prices for the farm reserves of corn are the lowest since 1917. Farm reserves of old corn in the state are reported to be two percent, compared with 5.2 percent last year and the average of four and one-half percent.

The state yield of shilage is above average and is reported to be 6.9 tons per acre, compared with 6.3 tons a year ago.

"A special inquiry on the methods of harvesting corn shows that about 80 percent of the Illinois corn crop is husked, while eight percent is cut and placed in silos, and 12 percent will be hogged or grazed off."

NEW SYSTEM TO AVERT COLLISION ON ROCK ISLAND

New Device Will Stop Trains If Another is Within Block.

Rear end collisions and running into derails at railroad crossings are now a thing of the past on the Rock Island. What is known as an automatic train control has been installed at a cost of thousands of dollars. This system automatically stops a train if there is another train stopped within a mile ahead of it and it also does the same thing if the train does not have the right of way over a railroad crossing.

Several years ago, the Rock Island installed the electric block system, which operates signals telling of dangers ahead. This system has been improved from time to time, as additional inventions have been made, but there was nothing to prevent trains from moving into the danger zone, if the engineer failed to stop his train when the signals were against him. Engineers have been known to keep on going into a "block," with the signal against them, because they thought they could see ahead far enough to come to a stop in time to avoid a collision. On some lines, engineers have fallen asleep and their trains crashed into another train, such as occurred near Earlville a couple of years ago.

The electric train control prevents all such accidents. At each block signal is an appliance known as a "ramp." This is on the order of a third rail and is about 60 feet in length and built up a little higher than a railroad rail. It is of wooden construction and covered on top with two heavy pieces of strap steel. "Planted" near the ramp are the large battery jars and electrical appliances, which are encased in a large earthen ware jars and buried in the ground.

The passing locomotive is equipped with what is known as a "shoe." This is mounted on the side of all the locomotives a little lower or closer to the ground than the "ramps," the latter having sloping ends so that the "shoe" on the "ramps" ride across them, thus making a contact. If there is a train within the next block ahead or if there is anything wrong with the system, the "ramp" gives the "shoe" an application of electrical energy and thus automatically sets the air brakes on the train and brings the train to a complete stop within a train length and in such a manner that the passengers on the train are not given a jolt.

Start System November 1. November first was the date set for the system to go into operation. The installation has been completed on the Bureau division for some time. The locomotives are now provided with their part of the equipment. Locomotives pulling the fast trains were the first to be equipped with the appliances.

Plan Courses Real Estate Education

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Persons contemplating a future in the real estate business are to have an opportunity for study of practical college courses as a consequence of a meeting at Madison, Wis., in which the National Association of Real Estate Boards joined with representatives of colleges to plan a series of courses.

The real estate association announced a two year outline of study proposed would include real estate practice; real estate law, business economics, real estate selling, transfers and conveyances and real estate finance besides building construction and design, principles of land economics, property management, real estate valuations and appraisals.

Correspondence courses are to be carried on by an American Real Estate Institute.

Little Boy Buried By Cave-in of Ditch

Cordova, Nov. 12.—Oliver Pfister, 7 years old, was smothered to death here early this morning when dirt caved in from the side of a ditch in which he, his twin brother, John, and some other lads were playing.

All the boys but Oliver were at the top of the ditch. Without warning the loose earth at the sides caved in and Oliver was swallowed up.

Ernest Gerkin, a farmer, was working in the field a short distance away, and George Poole and Fred Robinson also were nearby, but they at first paid little attention to the screams of the children thinking they were playing.

It was nearly an hour before the child's body was recovered.

Wrigley to Cut Up Big Holiday Melon

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The anticipated pre-Christmas gift to stockholders of the William Wrigley, Jr. Co., was announced today in the form of a stock melon and an exchange of one share of old stock for three of new with maintenance of the present dividend of $9 a share or $3 a year on each share of new stock, payable monthly.

Application will be made to list on the New York Stock Exchange the stock of which 1,800,000 shares of no par value will be issued in exchange for the old stock of 600,000 shares of $25 par value a share.

MELLON ASKS CUT OF TAXES IF BONUS BILL IS HELD U

Says Passage of Bon Would Increase Taxes of Country.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Federal revision under a program applying deductions to the range of business taxes and estimated to cut the nation's tax bill next year by $233,000,000 will be recommended to congress by Secretary Mellon.

Outlining his proposed program a letter, Secretary Mellon declared that, contingent on the non-passing of a soldiers bonus bill there should be for this year and for the next five years a revenue surplus above ordinary budget expenditures including the fixed debt charges, of something more than $300,000,000. The said, gives a reasonable margin for tax revision and reduction.

A soldiers bonus measure, he asserted, not only would postpone reduction "for many years" but would mean an increase

TRUCK OWNERS TO PAY BIGGER FEES TO STATE IN 1924

New Law Applicable to Trucks in Illinois Next Year.

Springfield, Ill., November 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Trucks, tractors and trailers will be licensed for 1924 under the new automobile law as amended by the 43rd General Assembly. Secretary of State Louis L. Johnson announced in mailing out applications for all motor vehicle licenses for the coming year.

The maximum license fee for trucks is raised to $150; commercial tractor license fees will be determined on the same basis as trucks, and trailers will be required to bear license plates, the fees for which will be determined, as with trucks, according to gross weight and carrying capacity. Passenger cars will be licensed the same as in 1923. Heretofore, commercial tractors have been charged a regular fee of $25.

The schedule of fees for truck licenses for 1924 is as follows: $12 for 5,000 pounds and less including weight of vehicle and maximum load; $15 for 5,000 and more than 12,000 pounds; $100 for 20,000 pounds and more than 5,000 pounds; and $150 for more than 10,000 pounds. Last year the maximum truck fee was $90.

Heavy Traffic Cause
"The action of the legislature in increasing truck license fees," Mr. Emerson said, "results from the unusually heavy loads which travel over the highways resulting, of course, in an unusually heavy maintenance expenditure."

Every trailer will be required to have to pay for a motor vehicle license, to be determined by the following rate schedule: 2,000 pounds and less including weight of trailer and maximum load, $6.00; 10,000 pounds and more than 2,000 pounds, including weight of trailer and maximum load, $25; and more than 10,000 pounds including weight of trailer and maximum load, $50. Passenger car trailers will be taxed similarly.

Tractors will be classed as motor trucks, whenever used for commercial use, on the public roads. Agricultural tractors will not be taxed, Mr. Emerson said.

Regarding the weight allowed on road surface in Illinois the law, the secretary said is as follows:

Maximum Weight
"The maximum gross weight to be permitted on the road surface through any two wheels on the same axle of any vehicle shall not exceed 16,000 pounds, nor shall it exceed eight hundred pounds per inch of width of tire upon such wheels. Provided, further, that the gross weight including the weight of the vehicle and maximum load of any self-propelled vehicle shall not exceed 24,000 pounds, and the gross weight including the weight of the vehicle and maximum load, of any trailer or semi-trailer vehicle pulled or towed by a motor vehicle shall not exceed thirty-two thousand pounds."

Cities Enact Law
Illinois municipalities of more than 10,000 population have enacted laws providing for a maximum weight on their streets, which in most cases is much higher than the maximum load allowed on state roads. The law, however, limits this power of legislation, as follows:

"Weight limits 50 percent above those provided for herein may be permitted by ordinance in cities having a population of more than 20,000 and such increase shall not apply to vehicles when outside the limits of such city."

While applications for 1924 license plates have already been mailed out, the plates will not be mailed until the last week in December, Mr. Emerson said.

"This is done to prevent many new motorists trying to 'slide' through the end of the year on 1924 licenses, instead, in cases where an automobile is purchased the last of the year, of applying for a 1923 license," he said.

The 1924 license plates are to have black background with bright yellow figures.

Passenger car license fees will remain the same as last year, being based on the following schedule:

Gasoline or steam cars, 25 h. p. or less $8; 35 h. p. and more than 25, $12; 50 h. p. and more than 35, $20; more than 50 h. p., $25. Electric automobiles will be taxed $12.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO BEATRICE GRIMSNAW, CONTINUED

I really was so full of that moving picture, Bee, that I am afraid I didn't pay as much attention as I ought to Sam's plan for an advertising campaign. He went away in a huff. If he had not been married to me he would have seen that I was preoccupied and left his scheme until some other time. Why is it that a man never treats his wife as courteously as he does some other woman?

Really that girl, whose name by the way is Pauline, had acted the part of the woman, who is supposed to be French and to have come to this country when she was very young, with such sincerity and truth that I was mighty sorry for her especially when she decided to trump her heart trick—which, of course, was his love for his wife—with the letter he had written before his marriage.

She manufactured an excuse to talk to the wife without telling who she was and, finding that the wife loved the baby dearly, she decided to give up to her and go out of their lives.

You see, Bee, the two women, both the wife and "the other woman," get the worst of it all, which of course fits into my idea of the scheme of things as they are. The last scene in the picture was where the wife and the man were bending over the crib of the baby and one was given to understand that they were going to live happily ever after while the real mother of the boy was seen kneeling by an empty crib, her face in her hands. It is the woman who pays, as always.

You see it is an unconventional picture, Bee, not at all like the usual cut-and-dried affair. But believe it is absolutely true to the double standard as we now know it. Man plays the game where hearts are trump, wins all and goes his way with nothing to worry him. While from the woman has been taken all the tricks. Even if she wins she loses—a paradox that all women learn sooner or later.

I told this story to Sam and he said that it was absolutely the right thing. That a man had no way of knowing he was the father of his own children unless there was an iron-clad single standard of morality by which a woman should be uncompromisingly labeled good or bad. That only in this way could we observe and keep the sanctity of the home.

Of course when Sam said this I became perfectly enraged and told him that as long as a man did not try to preserve the sanctity of his or any other man's home it was not up to the woman to care so much about it either.

"I certainly am not a believer in woman's vicarious atonement for man's sins," I affirmed.

He told me he didn't understand where I got my loose ideas of morality and I told him that until man should have some respect for the code of chastity which he makes for the women of his family and apply it to himself, we would never have very much respect for the male sex. Then, Bee, the fight was on.

I wish you would find out something about this girl. I'd like to know more about her, especially as it is advertised that the story was written by Cora Moore, assisted by Paula Perier. I believe the girl has put in some of her own life. Don't let me see the picture if it comes to your screen.

FOOTBALL NEWS

STRONG SOUTHERN TEAM PLAYS ILLINI SATURDAY

Urbana, Ill.—The first intercollegiate game in the Illinois stadium will be played next Saturday, Nov. 17, when the strong team from Mississippi A. and M. college tackles the fighting Illini.

Mississippi recently electrified the south by playing a tie game with Vanderbilt University. Vanderbilt tied Michigan last year and this year routed the Wolverines by a 3 to 0 score. When the Illini heard this Mississippi-Vanderbilt 9-9 score, they sat up and immediately began to take notice.

Mississippi during the past ten years has been a consistent contender for first division honors. In 1916 they kicked Texas A. and M. after the Texans had won the southwestern conference championship. Since 1921 the Bulldogs have won 34 and lost 63 games and have scored 2,150 points to their opponent's 1,514. During this period they have played the leading southern teams and have frequently invaded the southwestern conference and the middle west. Mississippi has won her games with the University of Arkansas and Haskell Indians.

Mississippi A. and M. has frequently competed in the western conference and national collegiate track meets. Last year the southerners tied Illinois for fifth place in the national meet.

Vanderbilt has one of the best backfields in the south but against the Aggies, the Commodore backs were unable to make consistent gains. The lads from Mississippi proved their mettle by checking the Vanderbilt attack on their 15-yard line. This makes it appear that the invaders from Dixieland have a strong defensive team.

Mississippi will come to the stadium

all keyed up while the Illini must conserve their strength for the game a week later. With all this in mind the game may be a lot tighter than many people expect.

This will be the last game of the year at home for the Illini who will turn out en masse to see rarefied to such heroes as Capt. Jim McMillen and Vivian Green who play their final games before the home folks. The Illini look for a comfortable crowd of 12,000 to 15,000 but announcement that the price is only $1.50 may swell the gallery. There will be no reserved seats.

FEW GAMES REMAIN

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Chicago, Nov. 13.—Western Conference coaches today had their teams pointed toward the remaining games, the outcome of which will determine the Big Ten championship. At Madison, Wis., turned its attention to Michigan whose conference hopes rest on a defeat of the Badgers there Saturday. Although overcome by Illinois last week, Wisconsin learned much football which it will use again at the Wolverines.

Coach Yost has a battered squad of veterans after the game with the Marquette. Quarterback Uteritz has a broken leg and other members of the squad are bruised.

"Red" Grange, whirlwind ace of the Illini who met rough treatment in the Wisconsin game Saturday, will be in shape for the only remaining conference game against Ohio, November 24. Zupke is depending on his star halfback for victory over the Buckeyes to give the team a record for five straight conference victories. Illinois plays the Mississippi Aggies Saturday.

Iowa and Minnesota are to give one Saturday feature exhibitions. Both teams had a week's rest and are reported prepared for a fierce battle. The Gophers are undefeated. Coach Jones at Iowa has Parkin and Hancock back in his lineup and will present his strongest front. Minnesota, with Martineau and Gross again playing, will present its best eleven.

Chicago came out of its game with Indiana Saturday intact and is getting ready for the contest against Ohio State.

HUFF AGAINST CHANGE

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Urbana, Ill., Nov. 13.—Suggestions that Big Ten eligibility rules be changed so that no player could be barred for professionalism after the opening of the season have been characterized as absurd by George Huff, director of athletics of the University of Illinois.

Western Conference athletics would be opened to wholesale recruiting by the professional sports by the application of such a rule, he said, declaring it would put a premium on concealment of professionalism.

The public as a rule don't appreciate the fact that it takes weeks or months of investigation to prove a man has played professionally, the director said.

The proposed rule, he declared, would make it legal for a senior in school playing his last year, to compete with some professional organization outside of school hours. Such a practice, he said, would destroy the amateur system.

If the present rules are too severe, he said, the only way to secure their modification is by strict enforcement.

EAST CHICAGO—Ernie Goetzman, of Los Angeles outpointed Hille Levine of New York in a ten round bout at 123 pounds, according to newspaper men. Bill Henry, Chicago, defeated Mickey O'Dowd of Muncie, Ind., in 10 rounds at 126 pounds.

MEMPHIS—Frankie Garcia, local featherweight, scored a technical knockout over Brookie Stephens, San Antonio, in the third round when the referee stopped the fight to save Stephens further punishment.

PHILADELPHIA—Reports that a deal was pending which would send him to Washington as manager were denied today by Eddie Collins, second baseman of the White Sox, on his return from a hunting trip in Maine.

CHICAGO—Vic Keen, pitcher last season with the Chicago Nationals, was married last week in Washington to Miss Pauline Lewis.

NEW YORK—On the eve of his departure for Europe Manager John McGraw of the New York Nationals completed one of the biggest player deals of his career, which among other moves sends Dave Bancroft, his captain and shortstop, to the managership of the Boston Nationals. For Bancroft the Giants received Outfielder Bill Southworth, captain of the Braves. Pitcher Joe Oeschger comes back to the Giants in exchange for Charles Stengel, the immortal "Casey" and Bill Cunningham. Stengel's alternate in center field. The majority of local experts believe McGraw has strengthened his outfield in both hitting and fielding as Southworth is a more consistent hitter than either of the two traded Giants. McGraw will use Travis Jackson, the 20 year old find from Little Rock, at short and while he has great confidence in the youngster, critics assert that Jackson cannot be expected to fill the shoes of Bancroft.

The acquisition of Bancroft alone both as manager and shortstop is sufficient, according to local opinion, for Boston to make up the loss of Oeschger and Southworth.

President Franklin Life Ins. Co. Dead

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10—George B. Stadden, known throughout the west as a civic and welfare worker, and president of the Franklin Life Insurance Company of this city, died at his home here yesterday. Death came after an illness of two years.

Mr. Stadden was born in Springfield, in 1861, the son of William Stadden, the first insurance superintendent of Illinois.

Active in welfare work, Mr. Stadden was a member of a group called together during the war by Henry P. Davidson, New York, to consider ways of organizing the first war fund campaign.

He was actively interested in the Illinois Division Sons of Veterans, and was an associate director of the Central Division American Red Cross, during the 1918 roll call.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

"THE FOOL"

BY CHANNING POLLOCK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Goodkind, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, established by Gilchrist, George Goodkind, Jerry's father, calls and orders Daniel to cease seeing Clare, who frequently visits the hall to help Gilchrist. Clare says she has left Jerry, and Daniel sends her back to him. Clare returns to her husband, Joe Hennig, and his gang break in and threaten Gilchrist. Umanski meets the mad gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's it," he said. "Don't let this guy buffalo you. Come on, let's drive him out." Hennig came close to Gilchrist. "I told you I'd get you," he sneered. The mob pressed closer. Umanski placed his bulk in front of them. They were fast closing in on him.

"Listen to me," commanded a voice. It was Goodkind who had forced his way through to face them. "No violence. You're dealing with a lunatic. I've got a doctor coming down here. Leave it to me and I'll have this place closed tonight."

The mob was becoming more restless—moving closer.

Miss Levinson and the Henchleys were backing toward the windows.

Mary Margaret looked on helplessly from the platform. Her face was terror-stricken. She dropped her crutches to her side and knelt.

"Oh, dear God, please listen," she besought. "And then, finally, she began to repeat the Lord's prayer."

Her voice was lost in the growing tumult.

"Leave him alone," warned Goodkind. "You can't beat a crazy man!"

"He ain't crazy," shouted Pearl. "He ain't a man. Ain't you seen what he just done for me. I lied to him and he's given me another chance, and I'm gonna take it. He ain't no man. He's a saint. I tell you he's like God!"

Laughter first and then a serious muffled protest came from the mob.

"That's what he's been tellin' 'em. Ain't it, Grubby. Jimmie, didn't he tell you he was the son of God?" Assesting nods came from here and there in the pressing throng and whispered or mumbled threats.

"That's what he told 'em all," Joe blurted. "That's how he gets 'em. Joe turned menacingly toward Gilchrist. 'Didn't you tell 'em you was a son of God?' he demanded.

Gilchrist straightened.

"I am," he said simply.

There were epithets of scorn, wrath, fire now in the mass that edged closer with fists shaking in the air and curses shouted aloud.

Gilchrist stood his ground and raised his right hand.

"So are we all!" he shouted. "In you—and all of us—deep down—is something of Him. We may try to hide it—or kill it, but in spite of ourselves we are divine."

Tony Malduca stepped out of the press and faced him.

"If you're a son of God—save yourself. If you're what you say—give us a sign."

There was a pause—a silence.

Then Hennig, with a gesture, turned loose the fury.

"Aw, hell, come on!" he shouted. Chaos came at his call.

With the false courage that cowards can muster through numerical superiority the horde advanced.

Chairs toppled, tables crashed, the jangle of breaking glass could be heard. Men and women grappled in a struggle that knew no order.

"Kill! Murder!" "Police!" Words of violence were those that rose to the surface of this seething mass.

Mary Margaret, her crutches at her side, was still praying. Men felt inert here and there. "—forgive us our trespasses—" prayed Mary Margaret. Umanski rose to his feet at the edge of the milling mass. Rage doubled his strength as he flung himself at them.

They quailed before him. The mass untangled itself and men and women slunk off.

There on the floor lay the bulk of a man. It was Gilchrist. A thin stream of red trickled down his face. There was a guilty silence.

"—and the power and glory, forever, Amen."

Mary Margaret opened her eyes. She might have been looking down from that little hill near Golgotha. She drew herself to her feet and with a mute stare started slowly for the apparently lifeless figure in the center.

A piercing scream halted her.

"Mary Margaret!" cried Miss Levinson. "Where are your crutches?" The girl looked down in bewilderment at her feet.

"I don't know," she said absently, advancing. Then full realization came to her. "I kin walk. I kin walk," she shouted. She bent over the prostrate form. "Mr. Gilchrist," she cried, "Mr. Gilchrist!" She put her arms about him.

Pearl Hennig turned on the mob. "I told you!" she exclaimed. "I told you he was a saint."

Umanski whirled to face them, too. "You want a sign?" he thundered. "Look! Down on your knees—y—d—murderers," he commanded. "God's in this room. Down on your knees."

Dazed, bewildered, they dropped to their knees. Heads bowed. Here and there trembling hands made the sign of the cross.

CHAPTER XII
Another Christmas Eve

ANOTHER Christmas eve had come and with it the hush of a halted world, its busy creatures pausing in their pellmell, some with reverent reason and others merely because a day had been marked red in the calendar.

The glow of dying embers fell upon Gilchrist as he sat in reverie before an open fireplace in his room "upstairs," his eyes dreamily far away as he puffed contentedly on a pipe. It was a simple, unpretentious room. Its furnishings were cheery and it was banked with friendly books.

A faint tapping at the door hardly stirred him, and before he could turn Mary Margaret had entered furtively. She saw him in the dim light and hastily hid a package behind her back.

"Oh," she exclaimed. "Goodness, you scared me. I thought you went out."

"No," he said. "I came up here to read a little while before we put our gifts on the tree. Where's Grubby?" He promised to help.

"Grubby's all swelled up with his new taxicab," she said, a little contemptuously. "Christmas eve's the big night in his business, but he says don't worry—he'll be here in time for the sandwiches. Am I interruptin' your reading?"

"Oh, no," he answered, noting her obvious efforts to hide her package. "What have you there?"

"Where?" Her evasion was childlike.

"Under your apron."

"I was gonna surprise you," she said. "It's your Christmas present. It ain't much—an' I didn't want it on the tree—before everybody. I wanted to give it to you myself. Open it now."

He did so, smiling. He held up a picture, its simple significance lost in the blatant colors of a cheap chromo.

"Mary Margaret!" she said. "The name's on the back," she said. "See—Mama's Treasure."

"It's just what I wanted," he said. "Is it honest?" she rejoiced in delight. "Let's put it in place of that one over the mantelpiece. That's an awful pretty picture, but mine's got colors in it."

"Why not in place of the Venus who fell on her nose?" he suggested. She assented readily and with an air of pride he stood the picture on top of the bookcase.

"I can't thank you enough," he said, taking her hand.

"You thank me," she reproached. "You that's give me—"

She looked down at her sides where crutches had once stood. They were gone now. "Oh, Mr. Gilchrist!" she started, and her eyes filled with tears.

"Now, now," he warned, "we mustn't cry on Christmas."

"What are you going to do if you're happy?"

"Try laughing," he said. And she did. "And if I'm having my Christmas now, you must have yours, too. Suppose you rummage on the sofa."

She hurried over and made her way through a score of packages. There was a book for Miss Levinson, and gifts for a dozen others.

"This one isn't marked," she said, holding it aloft. "Is it mine?"

"No," he replied. "Those are gloves for Mack. I wanted to show I appreciated his bringing back that coat."

Finally she found it—a large box marked with her name. She opened it breathlessly and held up a child's fur set, a muff and neckpiece in beaver.

"Oh, Mr. Gilchrist," she protested feebly. "Oh, you oughtn't." She tried them on and ran to a mirror. "They're beautiful," she went on rapturously. "They're the beautiful-est furs I ever see. I've wanted a set like this always. I never was so happy before in my life."

The tears started again, but he held up an admonitory finger and they turned to laughter.

"I don't know how to thank you," she said.

"Don't try," he returned.

She scurried off to show her present to her mother. As she opened the door Mr. Goodkind reached the stairway landing and entered. Mary Margaret turned toward Gilchrist alarmed, and stood by ready to protect him.

"Well—Mr. Goodkind," welcomed Daniel.

"May I come in?" the visitor asked, meekly.

"Of course," Daniel drew up a chair.

"I've only a moment, Jerry's waiting for me in the car."

"How is Jerry?" Gilchrist inquired solicitously.

Goodkind was sadly eyeing Mary Margaret.

"I wish you could perform a miracle on him," he said, disconsolately.

52,121 MEN AT BIBLE CLASS IN KANSAS CITY, MO.

All Records Broken By Attendance at Class Sunday.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12—With all known records for attendance at men's religious services shattered here yesterday, when 52,121 men crowded convention hall and surrounding space, defeating Long Beach, California, in a five week contest, the Kansas City Men's Bible class will return Sunday to its regular quarters, leaders announced today.

Although sponsored by the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, Dr. D. J. Evans, pastor and teacher, emphasized that the class was non-sectarian.

Seventy-five buglers called the men to the assembly. The hall was crowded to the utmost. Hundreds of young men were perched high on the iron beams of the structure.

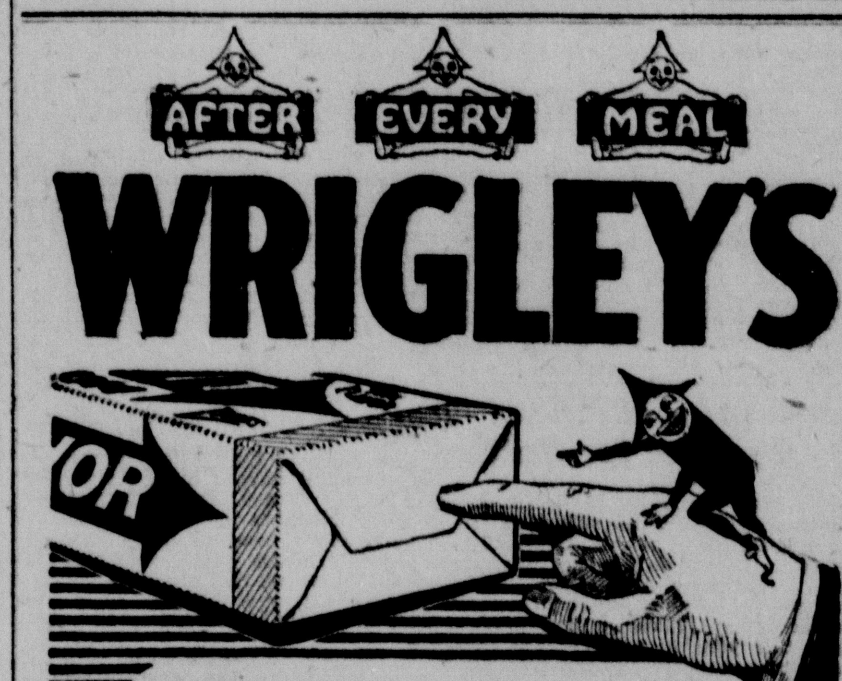

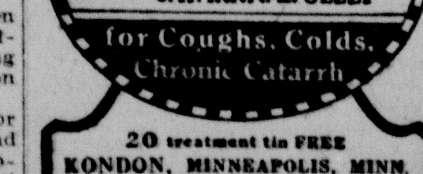

Several hours were required for eighteen counting machines to grind out the total figures of the crowd. Approximately 25,000 were in the hall.

It had escaped from a circus, and butted down the front door of the aged man's home. It was quite docile, though. The keeper had little difficulty in getting it back to the show.

ALIFORNIA LAWS RESTRICTING LAND OWNERSHIP LEGAL

Supreme Court Finds Statutes of State Are Valid.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 12.—The alien laws of California and Washington prohibiting aliens ineligible to citizenship from owning or leasing land are declared valid and constitutional by the Supreme Court.

Justice Butler delivered the opinion, which held that the question was not whether the laws were validly enacted, but whether they were within the power of the state to enact. The court found that the laws were within the power of the state to enact.

Justice McReynolds and Brandeis took the position that the cases regarding the leasing of land to Japanese should have dismissed on the ground that no justifiable question is presented. Justice Sutherland took no part in either of the two cases.

Justice Butler asserted it was clear within the power of a state to prohibit aliens who had not declared their purpose to become citizens, or who had not become citizens, from owning land.

The proceedings brought to test the constitutionality of the laws were instituted by American owners of land, who had joined with the Japanese to whom they desired to make leases. The lower federal courts held that the state laws complained of were valid and did not deprive the land owner of any material right. The lower courts held, however, that the law did not prohibit a landowner from entering into an agreement with a Japanese to work agricultural lands on a crop-sharing basis.

The cases were brought by W. L. Porterfield and Y. Mizuno, by Raymond L. Frick and N. Satow, and by J. O'Brien and others against the attorney general of Washington.

One of these presented the question of the ownership of land by aliens. The Porterfield and the Terrace cases involved attempts of aliens to lease land. The Frick case the right of aliens to own stock in land-owning corporations, and the O'Brien case a cropping contract with an alien.

The states won in all the cases in the lower federal courts except that brought by O'Brien.

While Chinese exclusion and Hindu restriction laws had been enacted by Congress, it was up to the states themselves, the states contended, to enact laws which would prevent Japanese colonization for agricultural and other purposes.

The constitutionality of the alien laws, which would forfeit to the state any land owned or controlled by aliens not eligible to citizenship as well as that owned or controlled by aliens who had not declared their intention to become citizens, was attacked on the ground that it deprived citizens who owned land of their right without due process of law, and by limiting their right of sale or lease deprived them of the use of their property in violation of the Federal constitution. It was further urged that such laws also deprived the Japanese of equal protection guaranteed by the Federal constitution and took away their right to pursue a lawful occupation. Such discriminations, based on the ground of color, race or nationality were, in the opinion of those who assailed the alien laws, a violation of rights guaranteed in the treaty between the United States and Japan.

Had the states merely provided that only citizens of the United States could own land within their borders, the law would not have been objectionable. It was urged in behalf of the Japanese, but they did seriously object to the discrimination which they claimed had been aimed against them when the law which excluded them from owning or leasing land permitted other aliens to enjoy those privileges.

No Belittling of Others

Those bringing the appeals, without wanting to "belittle the men of other races or nationalities," declared that certain nationals which they named, who can own or lease land in California and Washington, are not as desirable as "the industrious, enterprising and intelligent Japanese," who have converted "burning deserts" into smiling oases, and "regions infested with malaria" into "marvels of fertility." The objectionable legislation, as aimed, it was asserted, to benefit aliens coming from 40 nations, was antagonistic to the interests of those coming from ten.

Asserting as a fundamental sovereign right the power to prohibit and regulate the ownership of land within their borders, the states contended that the alien land laws were not in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the Federal constitution, the treaty with Japan nor the Federal revised statutes, insisting that the right of the Japanese to hold land under the treaty was confined to lands devoted solely to trade and commerce. In argument on this latter point the states asserted that the treaty stipulation was reciprocal, providing that the Japanese should have the same rights and privileges in respect to real estate property in the United States that Americans enjoy in Japan. American rights in this respect, it was pointed out, did not extend to the right to

Lombard and Knox Prepare for Battle

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 12.—Knox and Lombard Colleges today started intensive drill for the annual battle between the two schools on Friday of this week. The game, always interesting because of the intense rivalry between the two colleges, takes on more importance this year in view of the fact that the two teams are the only undefeated eleven in the state conference.

New York—Twins are worth $50 a pair, and a ninth child, if it is a boy, fetches $150, according to the latest New York quotations.

Leastwise, that is what Max Dick, an East Side landlord, pays for those born in his "house of babies." He won't rent to families without children. And he hasn't increased his rent in 25 years!

There are 52 families with more than 200 children living in the house on Riverton street now, and the numbers are increasing steadily. And the landlords gets his dividends in the smile of the children who call him "Uncle Dick."

Along with the unsold mysteries of the Elwell murder, the Hall-Mills murder and other engrossing crimes, New Yorkers occupy themselves from time to time with speculations of a pleasant sort. These are as to the identity of a crooked, silk-hatted individual who elects to call himself Jedediah Tingle.

Does a scrub woman take special pains in polishing some office building stairs? She finds herself presented next day with a check bearing the signature Jedediah Tingle.

Does a traffic cop beam pleasantly while urging motorists to get back in line? His morning's mail brings a note and a slight token of esteem from Jedediah Tingle. The checks rarely exceed $5 and the wealthy as well as the poor are liable to receive them.

The story is that when he was a boy Jedediah wanted to be an author but destiny turned him into a banker. Now he exercises his thwarted tastes by creating a pleasant little personal mystery. Nobody but himself and his banker know his real identity.

And the story is probably true. For most of Jedediah's checks go to authors.

There is a battle on for supremacy of the air—for advertising purposes.

It is being waged by rival cigaret manufacturers.

One company has a sky writer who paints its brand of smokes in large, floating letters, high in air. Another sends planes over the city at a lower level, with smoke pouring from them, making a veritable smoke screen evidently so that the advertisement of the first company won't be seen. On the bottom of the lower planes throwing off the smoke screen is painted the name of a popular cigaret.

A little bit of Paris has been brought to New York. At the entrance to the subway at Pershing Square, opposite the Grand Central Station artistic guide posts have been erected. But the hardened Gothamite rarely looks at them. He is in too much of a hurry. Yet the posts are the most artistic things along the street.

The subway pretty nearly had another tragedy the other day. A foreign family all in gala attire were issuing from an express train at 14th street when the father suddenly discovered that one of his children was just in time to get stuck in the doors. "Why don't you count your kids," bawled out the guard, who held up the train long enough for the father to begin a frantic chase through the cars. The mother, on the platform, grabbed the other four children and started back for the previous station.

Then the train whizzed by and bystanders saw in the last car the father disentangling a sleeping child from behind a very fat old gentleman.

Across the street from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station is the feeding ground for the birds of mid-town New York.

Here are long lines of waiting taxicabs—and a gentle reminder of days gone by—horse-drawn cabs, with high hatted drivers who revel in the care of their moth-eaten steeds.

The cabbies stand for hours during the day without a single day—but they patiently wait, some of them dreaming memories of other and better times—before the automobile became such an urgent necessity of transportation.

It is here the horses are fed from "nose bags" canvas slips filled with oats, dangling from the horses' neck. Nearly as much of the grain is spilled on the street as the horses succeed in eating.

It is then the birds have their banquet on the street.

Walton Trial May Go Into New Year

Oklahoma City, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press.) The senate court hearing the charges against Governor J. C. Walton will pause in its work today for one hour and with the nation pay tribute to those who made an Armistice Day possible.

Action to speed up the trial is expected this week. But two of the 22 charges have been argued and at the present rate the trial will drag on into the new year, observers predicted.

The energy output of an average workman, it is estimated, is about one-tenth of a horsepower in an eight-hour day.

OGLE CO. TAKES STAND TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE

Organizations United
to Eradicate Tuberculosis There.

Oregon — That sentiment favoring immediate action in ordinary tuberculosis among cattle has crystallized in Ogle county, and that the issue can no longer be evaded without condemnation to those who are responsible for deferring action in the matter of employing the county veterinarian after adequate appropriations have been made, is no where more clearly evinced than in the resolutions as adopted by the Ogle County Tuberculosis Society, Woman's Council and Farm Bureau at their recent meeting.

The stand taken and suggestions made by Mrs. R. M. Brand is worthy of applause by all who are interested in the subject of Human Tuberculosis. Mrs. Frank Thorp showed determination to continue her efforts. Dr. L. A. Beard and Louis M. Sprecher are unalterably opposed to any movement that would cause further delay.

While the above mentioned parties deserve great credit for their efforts in advancing the cause, to no one is more credit due than to the able and untiring efforts of Gertrude B. Straw, R. N. County Tuberculosis Nurse, who like "Horatio at the Bridge," stood fighting with little or no support from those she endeavors to benefit.

Gertrude B. Shaw, by her extended experience, observation, and special training in tuberculosis work in Chicago and elsewhere is exceptionally well qualified for the work, and nothing gives her greater pleasure than to assist in this great cause of humanity, and Ogle county is to be congratulated in securing her, as her services are recognized by the leading tuberculosis specialists. Due to her untiring efforts many human lives have been saved and misery and desolation kept out of Ogle county homes.

State Agent Dr. J. P. Doran and O. Augburger, federal veterinarians who are conducting retests on the herds already under supervision in Ogle county this week stated that no new herds would be added at present to the list in this county, until the citizens of this county would prove through the board of supervisors that they are determined upon eradication, as 41 other counties are actively engaged in intensive or area work and many other counties appealing for assistance.

Effort to Inject Klan in Oklahoma Hearing Failure

Oklahoma City, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—The first attempt to inject the Ku Klux Klan issue into the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton failed today when the senate court by an oral vote refused to permit a witness to answer questions that bore directly on the Governor's opposition to the organization.

H. D. Martin, who testified he had guarded the executive's residence at night on occasions during the last 18 months, had said that the Governor's life had been threatened.

"Wasn't that about the time Mr. Walton, as mayor, issued a proclamation directed against the Klan?" defense counsel asked.

The prosecution objected and the court supported a motion for the reference to the Klan be stricken.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physicians prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and get treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test the great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.
